At last they have been made! What? The long expected appointments. Mayor-elect Ralph W. Gaylor today made public his selection for the appointments he has to make in connection with his duties as chief executive of the city. Mr. Gaylor has spent some time in determining the make-up of his official family, his appointees are well known citizens, and may therefore be expected to generally meet with public approval.

Walter Michael has been selected as city controller. He is well known, having served a long time as deputy city clerk, and later was elected as city clerk which office he very ably filled.

Mayor-elect Gaylor stated Wednesday morning that he "decided to appoint a controller after consulting freely with business men and members of the new administration. By appointing a controller he would be enabled to eliminate enough clerical help under the present system to meet his salary and will give the city the benefit of an expert bookkeeper and accountant without additional expense to the taxpayer."

Ralph H. Jernegan, who takes the position of city attorney, is native of this city, having been born here and attended the public schools, graduating from the high school in 1897, later he attended the law school at the University of Michigan, from which he graduated in 1902.

Chas. W. Cole, successor to Jas. W. Haverly, the present city engineer.

INDIANA COMMISSION AT EXPOSITION SITE

Lieut.-Gov. William P. O'Neill and Other Members of the Indiana State Commission in California in Interest of Panama World' Fair.

Members of the Indiana state commission for the 1915 Panama exposition to be held at San Francisco, are in that city now making arrangements and completing plans for the state buildings and their sites. The commission from this state are Lieut.-Gov. William P. O'Neill, its chairman, State Sen. Will R. Wood, and Speaker of the Lower House Homer L. Cook. The men were accompanied by the architect to the state commission, J. T. Johnson.

The commission has been on the site of the exposition for the past several days and expect to return to the state about the week end. Lieut.-Gov. William P. O'Neill of this city in an interview with a representative of the San Francisco Chronicle, stated in part that "Indiana cannot hope, as do the states on the Pacific coast, to get an increase of population by such exhibits as she may make at the exposition, because the movement of the population of the country is westward, but we feel that Indiana and other central states will derive substantial commercial advantages by appropriate participation, Indiana is a big manufacturing state, and we think that at present a large business is going over our heads. We are going to show once more what we are doing in the manufacturing line. Of course, there will be other features to our exhibits, such as the health department, public education system, agricultural products and others."

The lieutenant-governor also said that the members of the commission planned to remain there for several days and that on the return of the commission to this state, Architect Johnson would begin the preparation of plans for the state buildings, and that actual construction work would start next year at the exposition grounds.

The Eberhardt store is a good example of what a splendid stock of up-to-date goods can do for Mishawaka's business interests. The store has been established for many years in Mishawaka by the father of the present proprietors, Mr. Eberhardt, the father, died several years ago and the business was taken over by his son, August, who conducted it for some time. Later the two boys, John and August, decided to go into business together and to open an up-to-date store. ## SURVIVOR OF TITANIC TO APPEAR AT CENTURY

Through the efforts of Manager Senger of the Century theater, patrons of the local playhouse will be given a rare treat on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 15, 16 and 17.

On these days Albert E. Horswill, a sailor survivor of the Titanic disaster, will be present and describe some of the startling scenes of this disaster. This will be a great opportunity to hear the truth of the sinking of the Titanic as told from the lips of an actual survivor.

BARNHART OBJECTS TO RECORD ABUSE

Rochester Congressman Utters
Protest Against Filling Congressional Record of Unnecessary Matter.

Special to News-Times.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—One of the first men up for recognition on the opening day of the new session was Rep. Barnhart of the 13th Indiana district.

He got up to say that the custom of filling the Congressional Record with all sorts of stuff other than matters of actual record of the daily sessions of congress has grown to such proportions that the Record has become a bulky that it cannot be read by anyone who has anything else to do, and beside the expense of printing and franking the superfluous matter through the mails has become enormous.

Barnhart gave notice that he would object to unanimous consent of inserting in the board all sorts of speeches and writings uttered by others than members of congress, a short time ago one member used 29 pages of the Record to exploit 100 or more bills he has introduced together with one page of his own biography. Another put in Beveridge's Saturday Evening Post article on the divine superiority of bull moose politics. And all such stuff is then frankable as public documents.

The Rochester congressman protested against this abuse and was heartily applauded on both sides of the house. Immediately after a Texas member asked unanimous consent to insert in the Record a speech by a Texas judge, delivered somewhere, and a dozen members were instantly on their feet objecting and it didn't go in.

The loud protestations of Capt. T. H. McKee, formerly a minister at Argus, but for 20 years a republican office holder in Washington, that republicans in government positions are being discriminated against by Pres. Wilson's administration is a fine piece of political horse play. The fact is that the republican administrations for years have been promoting republicans to the best positions in the civil service and promoting democrats and now that these in justice to democrats are being corrected republican hangers-on like McKee are howling.

Wherever the department heads find that an efficient democrat has heretofore been reduced in the service to make room for a republican, the being of the democrat is the right place is promptly made and that is the why of Mr. McKee's whyness.

Under the directions of democratic officialdom a new order of things confronts dead beat government employees. Hereafter whenever an employee in the postal or any other department service refuses to sign his honest debts he will be promptly discharged if corroborated charges are filed against him. So woe unto the government employee who violates the law of honest debt paying.
